Worship Words

This conference is designed to help worship leaders come to a renewed appreciation and understanding of the words we use in worship.

Conference participants can expect to be inspired to use words more intentionally and creatively in worship - all for the greater glory of God and the greater blessing of God's people.

Workshop Options:

Ten Tips: Practical Advice for All Occasions - the Rev. Ron Rienstra

This workshop will equip worship leaders to create beautiful and cohesive worship services for all occasions.

Vertical Habits - the Rev. Joyce Borger

As children we are taught to say words like "thank you," "please," and "I'm sorry" before we are able to understand what these words mean. Our parents delight when we reach the maturity to absorb their meaning and speak them from the heart. The same holds true of the words we speak in worship. Many of the words learned by children are the ones we say to God each Sunday. This workshop teaches participants to recognize the words and to play with the structures that give space for these words to be spoken.

Building a Heritage Worship Service - the Rev. Angus Sutherland

Anniversaries are a great time to explore our history. Putting together a heritage service can remind people of our rich past, help them to explore the changes that have taken place, and learn together. This workshop will expose worship leaders to how a worship service would have taken place in the Free Church circa 1850 and discuss alternatives.

A Visual Tour of the Stuff That Helps Us Tell Our Stories - The National Presbyterian Museum & Its Collection

Come along to discover some of the Museum's most intriguing artifacts! A PowerPoint tour and talk will convey the faith and work of those who believe in and witness to service in Jesus Christ.

Getting to Know the Presbyterian Church Archives - Bob Anger & Kim Arnold

Archives staff will provide a snapshot of the exciting historic records collections, dating back to 1638, that reflect our denomination's involvement around the world. The presenters will also detail the various services provided by the Archives department to the Church at large.
