

By the power at work within us
God can accomplish abundantly more than all we can ask for or imagine.

Ephesians 3:20

God's promise of abundant life guides the work of Presbyterian World Service & Development. Through PWS&D, we respond with compassion, justice and love to situations of poverty, hunger and disaster in our global village. We respond together to support and empower vulnerable families and communities so that they may experience this abundance.

"We didn't know the correct process, but now we are able to sustain ourselves. Because of this we are very thankful for your support and for thinking of us as brothers and sisters."

Francisca Catalina Lopez received the seeds, tools and knowledge that are bringing life to her dry land in Nicaragua and helping her break free from hunger.

"I thank God for the support I receive from Tidzalerana. I feel love when I consider what the club has done for me. You are a friend indeed."

The PWS&D supported Tidzalerana Club in Malawi helped Jacob reclaim his mobility and improve his quality of life by providing him with a wheelchair and a chance to learn about small business development.

"I feel that my happiness has returned."

Krishna Rana was treated with love and encouragement at the PWS&D supported Jumla Clinic in Nepal following his diagnosis of leprosy. Krishna is healthy now and, with the ongoing support of the clinic, has started his own small business.

Because of your generosity, we are responding to help create a sustainable, compassionate and just world. Thank you for your continued prayers and support!

Faithful to our calling, we respond together.
